- until the Prime Minister issues an authority to proceed.
- (3) A magistrate who remands a person on bail:
- (a) has the same powers in relation to recognisances and reporting conditions as he or she has under the criminal laws of Tuvalu; and
  - (b) may order that the person's passport and other travel documents be surrendered to the magistrate until the extradition proceedings in relation to the person are concluded.
- (4) A person shall not be remanded in custody or on bail for a period longer than 42 days.
- (5) As soon as possible after remanding the person, the magistrate shall:
- (a) tell the Prime Minister:
    - (i) that the magistrate has remanded the person; and
    - (ii) the name of the requesting country; and

- (iii) the offence for which surrender will be sought; and
  - (b) give a copy of the authority to proceed, the extradition request and the documents on which the issue of the provisional arrest warrant is based to the Prime Minister and the person.
- (6) If the Prime Minister considers that the request for extradition of the person for the offence will not be granted, either because of an extradition objection or because of a matter mentioned in 16, he or she shall order:
- (a) the person to be released; or
  - (b) the discharge of the recognisance on which bail was granted.

10 Release from remand

- (1) If:
- (a) a person continues to be on remand (in custody or on bail) either:
    - (i) 42 days after the day on which the person was arrested; or
    - (ii) if the extradition treaty between Tuvalu and the requesting country provides for another period – for that period after the day on which the person was arrested; and
  - (b) the Prime Minister has not issued an authority to proceed;
- the person shall be brought before a magistrate.
- (2) The magistrate may remand the person, in custody or on bail, for a further period of not more than 42 days if the magistrate is satisfied that an authority to proceed will be issued within that period.
- (3) If the magistrate is not so satisfied, the magistrate shall order:
- (a) the release of the person from custody; or
  - (b) the discharge of the recognisances on which bail was granted.

11 Authority to proceed

- (1) If an extradition request is received, the Prime Minister shall:
- (a) consider the request; and
  - (b) issue an authority to proceed if he or she is satisfied that:
    - (i) the offence for which extradition is sought is an extradition offence; and
    - (ii) the requesting country is an extradition country; and
    - (iii) there is nothing in section 19 or any other law that would preclude surrender of the person; and

- (c) give the authority to proceed to a magistrate; and
  - (d) give a copy of the authority to proceed and the extradition request to the person.
- (2) If an authority to proceed is received by a magistrate in relation to a person who has not been arrested under a provisional arrest warrant, the magistrate shall issue a warrant for the person's arrest.

12 Arrest and remand on authority to proceed

- (1) A person who is arrested under a warrant issued under section 11 shall be brought before a magistrate as soon as practicable.
- (2) The magistrate shall:
- (a) remand the person in custody; or
  - (b) if the magistrate is satisfied that the person is unlikely to abscond—remand the person on bail; for the period that is necessary for proceedings under section 13 (dealing with consent to surrender) or 14 (dealing with extradition proceedings), or both, to be conducted.

- (3) A magistrate who remands a person on bail:
- (a) has the same powers in relation to recognisances and reporting conditions as he or she has under the criminal laws of Tuvalu; and
  - (b) may order that the person's passport and other travel documents be surrendered to the magistrate until the extradition proceedings in relation to the person are concluded.
- (4) If a magistrate remands the person in custody after the person has made an application for bail, the person is not entitled to apply to any other magistrate for release on bail during that remand, unless the first magistrate is no longer available.

13 Consent to surrender

- (1) At any time the person may tell a magistrate that the person consents to being surrendered to the requesting country for the extradition offence for which that country seeks his or her surrender.
- (2) If:
- (a) a person consents to being surrendered for the extradition offence; and
  - (b) the requesting country has asked that the person also be surrendered for another offence that is not an extradition offence;

the magistrate shall ask the person whether the person also consents to being surrendered for that other offence.

- (3) If:
- (a) the person informs the magistrate that he or she consents to being surrendered; and
  - (b) the magistrate is satisfied that the consent was given voluntarily;
- the magistrate shall tell the person that the effect of consenting will be that:
- (c) the person will be committed to prison without any extradition proceedings to determine whether the person should be surrendered for an extradition offence; and
  - (d) after the Prime Minister issues a surrender warrant, the person will be surrendered to the requesting country.
- (4) If the person again consents to being surrendered, the magistrate shall:
- (a) by warrant, order that the person be committed to prison; and
  - (b) tell the Prime Minister in writing that the person has been committed to prison and the offence for which the person has consented to be surrendered.
- (5) The Prime Minister may then issue a surrender warrant for the person.

14 Extradition proceedings

If:

- (a) the Prime Minister has issued an authority to proceed for an extradition offence in relation to a person; and
- (b) the person has not consented to surrender for the offence; and
- (c) an application is made to a magistrate by or on behalf of the person or the requesting country for extradition proceedings to be conducted in relation to the person; and
- (d) the magistrate considers that the person and the requesting country have had reasonable time since the person received a copy of the extradition request to prepare for the proceedings;

the magistrate shall conduct proceedings to determine whether the person should be surrendered for the extradition offence for which surrender of the person is sought.

15 Conduct of extradition proceedings

- (1) Extradition proceedings shall be conducted in the same manner as criminal proceedings. In particular, the rules that apply in criminal proceedings to the following matters apply to extradition proceedings:
  - (a) summoning witnesses;
  - (b) remanding defendants;
  - (c) ordering the production of documents;
  - (d) administration of oaths and affirmations;
  - (e) payment of witness expenses;
  - (f) contempt of court, privilege and other matters relating to the administration of courts;
  - (g) the imposition and level of fines for offences.
- (2) In the proceedings, the person is not entitled to bring, and the magistrate is not entitled to receive, evidence to contradict an allegation that the person has engaged in conduct that constitutes the offence for which extradition is sought.

16 Determination whether person may be surrendered

- (1) The magistrate shall not order that a person be held in custody for surrender to the requesting country unless the magistrate is satisfied:
  - (a) that the requesting country is an extradition country; and
  - (b) that the surrender offence is an extradition offence; and
  - (c) as to the identity of the person; and
  - (d) that the supporting documents have been produced to the magistrate; and
  - (e) that the supporting documents satisfy the requirements of section 17; and
  - (f) that surrender should not be refused because the person sought has established an extradition objection.
- (2) If the magistrate determines that the person be held in custody for surrender, the magistrate shall:
  - (a) issue a warrant, ordering that the person be committed to prison to await the Prime Minister's decision on surrender; and
  - (b) tell the person that he or she may, within 15 days after the day on which the order is made, seek a review of the order under subsection 18 (1); and

- (c) record in writing his or her decision and the extradition offence for which the person should be surrendered; and
  - (d) give a copy of the record to the person and the Prime Minister.
- (3) If:
- (a) the magistrate determines that the person be held in custody for surrender for an extradition offence; and
  - (b) the requesting country has asked that the person also be surrendered for another offence that is not an extradition offence;
- the magistrate shall ask the person whether the person also consents to being surrendered for that other offence.
- (4) If the magistrate determines that the person should not be surrendered to the requesting country, the magistrate shall:
- (a) order that the person be released; and
  - (b) tell the Prime Minister in writing of the order and of the magistrate's reasons for determining that the person should not be surrendered.

17 Supporting documents

- (1) In paragraph 16 (1) (d), “supporting documents”, in relation to an extradition offence, means:
- (a) as accurate a description as possible of the person sought, together with any other information that may help to establish the identity and nationality of the person; and
  - (b) the text of the law creating the offence or, if the offence is not created by statute, a statement of the offence; and
  - (c) the text of the law of the requesting country that prescribes the penalty or, if the penalty is not prescribed by statute, a statement of the penalty that can be imposed; and
  - (d) a statement of the acts and omissions that constitute the offence, and details of the time and place the offence was committed; and
  - (e) if the person is accused of the offence—a duly authenticated warrant issued by the requesting country for the arrest of the person for the offence, or a duly authenticated copy of the warrant; and
  - (f) if the person has been convicted of the offence—duly authenticated documents that provide evidence of:
    - (i) the conviction; and
    - (ii) the sentence imposed or intended to be imposed; and

- (iii) whether the sentence imposed has been carried out; and
  - (iv) whether the sentence is immediately enforceable.
- (2) If:
  - (a) a document relevant to the proceedings contains a deficiency; and
  - (b) the magistrate considers the deficiency to be minor;the magistrate shall adjourn the proceedings for a reasonable period to allow the deficiency to be remedied.
- (3) Any document that is duly authenticated is admissible in the proceedings.
- (4) A document that is sought by or on behalf of the requesting country to be admitted in the proceedings is duly authenticated if:
  - (a) it purports to be signed or certified by a judge, magistrate or officer in or of the requesting country; and
  - (b) it purports to be authenticated by the oath or affirmation of a witness or to be sealed with an official or public seal:
    - (i) in any case—of the requesting country or of a Minister, Department of State or Department or officer of the Government of that country; or
    - (ii) if the extradition country is a colony, territory or protectorate—of the person administering the Government of that country or of any person administering a Department of the Government of that country.
- (5) Nothing in this section prevents the proof of any matter or the admission of any document in the proceedings in accordance with any other law of Tuvalu.

18 Review of magistrate's decision by High Court

- (1) If a magistrate orders that a person be held until a surrender determination is made or refused, the person may apply to the High Court for a review of the order.
- (2) If a magistrate orders that a person be released, or that the person be surrendered for some offences only, the requesting country may apply to the High Court for a review of the order.
- (3) The application shall be made within 15 days after the day the magistrate makes the order.
- (4) The High Court shall have regard only to the material that was before the magistrate.

- (5) The High Court may, by order, confirm or quash the order of the magistrate and order that the person be held for surrender or released.
- (6) If the High Court orders that the person be held until a surrender determination is made or refused, the Court shall include in its judgment a statement specifying the offence and shall:
  - (a) if the person is not in custody—by warrant commit the person to prison until the Prime Minister has made a decision under section 19; or
  - (b) if the person is in custody—order that the person remain in custody until the Prime Minister has made a decision under section 19.
- (7) If the High Court orders that the person be released, the person shall be released accordingly.

19 Surrender determination by Prime Minister

- (1) If:
  - (a) a magistrate has reported to the Prime Minister that a person should be held for surrender; and
  - (b) the period during which an appeal may be lodged has ended and no appeal was lodged or, on appeal, the High Court ordered that the person be held for surrender;the Prime Minister shall make a final decision whether the person should be surrendered.
- (2) The Prime Minister may refuse to order that the person be surrendered if:
  - (a) the requesting country has not given a specialty undertaking and:
    - (i) the requesting country is not a country with which Tuvalu has a bilateral treaty containing a specialty undertaking; or
    - (ii) the law of the requesting country does not contain a provision prohibiting prosecution for an offence other than the one for which the person is surrendered; or
  - (b) the person is a citizen of Tuvalu; or
  - (c) the offence for which surrender has been ordered is punishable by death in the requesting country but not in Tuvalu and the requesting country has not given a sufficient undertaking that the penalty either will not be imposed or, if imposed, will not be carried out; or
  - (d) a prosecution for the offence for which surrender has been ordered is pending against the person in Tuvalu; or
  - (e) the offence for which surrender has been ordered was committed outside the territory of the requesting country and the law of Tuvalu

- does not provide for jurisdiction over an offence of that kind committed in similar circumstances outside Tuvaluan territory; or
- (f) the offence for which surrender has been ordered is regarded by Tuvalu as having been committed wholly or partly within Tuvalu; or
  - (g) the person has been sentenced, or would be liable to be tried or sentenced, in the requesting country by an extraordinary or ad hoc court or tribunal; or
  - (h) the person has been subjected in the requesting country to torture or cruel, inhuman or degrading treatment or punishment; or
  - (i) having regard to:
    - (i) Tuvalu's national interest, including its interests in effective international co-operation to combat crime; and
    - (ii) the severity of the offence;
- the Prime Minister is of the view that the person should not be surrendered.
- (3) For the purposes of paragraph (2)(a), the requesting country is taken to have given a specialty undertaking if it undertakes that the person will not, without having the opportunity of leaving the requesting country:
- (a) be detained or tried for an offence committed before surrender, other than:
    - (i) the surrender offence; or
    - (ii) an offence of which the person could be convicted on proof of the facts constituting the surrender offence, for which the penalty is no greater than the penalty for the surrender offence; or
  - (b) be detained in the requesting country for surrender to a third country for an offence committed before surrender to the requesting country;
- unless the Prime Minister consents to the trial or the surrender to the third country.
- (4) Tuvalu shall not refuse to surrender a person because the person may be subjected to torture or cruel, inhuman or degrading treatment or punishment if the requesting country and Tuvalu have ratified:

53 Surrendered persons to be brought into Tuvalu

- (1) A person surrendered to Tuvalu for an offence against a law of Tuvalu of which the person is accused or of which the person has been convicted shall be brought into Tuvalu and delivered to the appropriate authorities to be dealt with according to law.
- (2) In particular, the person may be remanded in custody or on bail until the person can be brought to trial.

54 Treatment of person surrendered to Tuvalu

A person surrendered to Tuvalu shall not:

- (a) be detained or tried in Tuvalu for an offence that is alleged to have been committed, or was committed, before the person was surrendered, other than:
- (i) an offence for which the person was surrendered; or
  - (ii) another offence (for which the penalty is the same or less) of which the person could be convicted on proof of the conduct constituting the extradition offence; or
  - (iii) another offence for which the surrendering country consents to the person being detained or tried; or
- (b) be detained in Tuvalu for surrender to a third country for trial or punishment for an offence that is alleged to have been committed, or was committed, before the person was surrendered to Tuvalu;

unless one of the following circumstances applies:

- (c) the country that surrendered the person to Tuvalu consents to the person being so detained, and tried or surrendered; or
- (d) the person has left, or has had the opportunity of leaving, Tuvalu.

55 Persons temporarily surrendered to Tuvalu

- (1) If a person surrendered to Tuvalu:

- (a) has not completed a custodial sentence in the surrendering country immediately before being surrendered; or
- (b) is a person whom Tuvalu has undertaken to hold in custody and return to the surrendering country;

then the person:

- (c) shall, while travelling to and from, and while in, Tuvalu, be kept in the custody that the Prime Minister orders in writing; and
- (d) may only be tried for an offence for which the person was surrendered; and
- (e) after the person has been tried—shall be returned to the surrendering country.

(2) If:

- (a) a person is held in custody only because of an order of the Prime Minister under subsection (1); and
- (b) the surrendering country notifies Tuvalu that the surrendering country no longer requires the person to be returned;

the Prime Minister shall order that the person be released from custody.

56 Evidence for purposes of surrender of persons to Tuvalu

- (1) If the Prime Minister intends to seek a person's extradition to Tuvalu, the Prime Minister may, by notice in writing, authorise the taking of evidence for use in any proceedings for the extradition of the person to Tuvalu.
- (2) A magistrate may take the evidence of each witness on oath or affirmation and shall:
  - (a) cause the evidence to be reduced to writing and certify as to the taking of the evidence; and
  - (b) cause the evidence and the certificate to be sent to the Prime Minister.
- (3) The person in relation to whom the evidence is being taken is not entitled to be represented while the evidence is being taken.

PART 9 - MISCELLANEOUS

57 Taking of evidence at request of another country

- (1) If another country requests Tuvalu to take evidence for the purpose of criminal proceedings in that country, the Prime Minister may authorise a magistrate to do so.
- (2) The magistrate may take the evidence of each witness on oath or affirmation and shall:
  - (a) cause the evidence to be reduced to writing and certify as to the taking of the evidence; and
  - (b) cause the evidence and the certificate to be sent to the Prime Minister.

58 Prosecution, instead of extradition, of citizens of Tuvalu

- (1) If:
  - (a) a country requests the surrender of a person because of conduct the person engaged in outside Tuvalu; and
  - (b) the Prime Minister refuses to order the surrender of the person because of a circumstance listed in subsection (2); and
  - (c) the person would have committed an offence against a law in force in Tuvalu if the person had engaged in the conduct, or equivalent conduct, in Tuvalu at that time;the person may be prosecuted and punished in Tuvalu for the offence.
- (2) The following are the circumstances for the purpose of paragraph (1)(b):
  - (a) the person is a citizen of Tuvalu; or
  - (b) on surrender, the person may be prejudiced at his or her trial, or punished, detained or restricted in his or her personal liberty, because of his or her race, religion, nationality, political opinions, sex or status; or
  - (c) the person has been subjected in the requesting country to torture or cruel, inhuman or degrading treatment or punishment; or
  - (d) the judgment has been given in the person's absence and there is no provision in the law of the requesting country entitling the person to appear before a court and raise any defence the person may have; or
  - (e) the offence for which surrender has been ordered is punishable by death in the requesting country but not in Tuvalu and the requesting

- country has not given a sufficient undertaking that the penalty either will not be imposed or, if imposed, will not be carried out; or
- (f) the person has been sentenced, or would be liable to be tried or sentenced, in the requesting country by an extraordinary or ad hoc tribunal.
- (3) For the purpose of the prosecution, the person is taken to have engaged in the conduct in Tuvalu.
- (4) A person shall not be prosecuted unless the Attorney-General:
- (a) considers that there is sufficient evidence in Tuvalu to justify prosecuting the person for the offence; and
- (b) orders that the person be prosecuted for the offence.
- (5) A person may be prosecuted whether the person engaged in the conduct before or after the commencement of this Act.
- (6) A person to whom subsection (1) applies may be:
- (a) arrested for an offence mentioned in paragraph (1)(c); and
- (b) charged with the offence; and
- (c) remanded in custody or on bail;
- although the Solicitor-General has not made an order under subsection (3).

59 Provision of evidence for prosecution by other countries

If

- (a) another country has refused to order that a person be surrendered to Tuvalu; but
- (b) the country is prepared to prosecute the person for the offence for which Tuvalu sought surrender of the person;

the Prime Minister shall give the other country all available evidence to enable the other country to prosecute the person.

60 Surrender for purposes of trial only

- (1) If:
- (a) Tuvalu refuses to surrender a person because:
- (i) the person is a citizen of Tuvalu; or
- (ii) the person has been subjected in the requesting country to torture or cruel, inhuman or degrading treatment or punishment; or

- (b) a magistrate determines under section 36 that a person should not be surrendered because the prison conditions in the requesting country are not substantially equivalent to the minimum standards for imprisonment in Tuvalu; and the requesting country asks that the person be surrendered for the purposes of trial only, Tuvalu may surrender the person to the other country for the purpose of being tried in the requesting country for the offence for which extradition is sought if:

- (c) the law of the requesting country permits the transfer of convicted offenders to Tuvalu; and
- (d) Tuvalu is satisfied that if the person is convicted the person will be returned to Tuvalu to serve the sentence imposed; and
- (e) Tuvalu is satisfied that there is no likelihood that the person will be subjected to torture or cruel, inhuman or degrading treatment or punishment.

61 Regulations

- (1) The Minister may make regulations, not inconsistent with this Act, prescribing matters required or permitted by this Act to be prescribed, or necessary or convenient to be prescribed for carrying out or giving effect to this Act.
- (2) Without limiting subsection (1), the regulations may:
  - (a) amend the lists of countries in the Schedules, but so that a country appears in only one Schedule; and
  - (b) set out the text of extradition treaties; and
  - (c) make any modifications to this Act that are necessary give effect to an extradition treaty.
- (3) A reference to a country listed in a Schedule includes a reference to a country listed in the Schedule because of regulations made under paragraph (2)(a).

62 Transitional

- (1) In this section:

“current extradition request” means an extradition request under the old Act that has not been finalised.

“old Act” means the Imperial Acts known as the Extradition Acts, 1870 to 1935 as in force in Tuvalu immediately before the commencement of this Act.

- (2) In spite of the fact that the old Act no longer has effect in Tuvalu, a current extradition request that was started before the commencement of this Act is to continue to be dealt with under the old Act.
- (3) However, nothing in this section prevents a country from making a fresh extradition request under this Act in place of a current extradition request.

63 Exclusion of other laws

- (1) This Act replaces all former laws relating to extradition in force in Tuvalu immediately before the commencement of this Act, whether those laws were in force because of legislation of Tuvalu or because of the actions of a former governing power of Tuvalu.
- (2) In particular, the following Acts cease to have effect in Tuvalu:
  - (a) the Imperial Acts known as the Extradition Acts, 1870 to 1935; and
  - (b) the Imperial Act known as the Fugitive Offenders Act, 1881; and
  - (c) any other laws relating to extradition of persons to and from Tuvalu that were in force in any part of Tuvalu immediately before the commencement of this Act.
- (3) In spite of subsection (2):
  - (a) an Order in Council made under the Extradition Acts, 1870 to 1935 that is expressed to extend to Tuvalu continues in force in Tuvalu by virtue of this subsection; and
  - (b) Tuvalu is taken to have an extradition treaty with a country mentioned in an Order in Council or a successor to that country.
- (4) An extradition treaty:
  - (a) to which Tuvalu was a party; or
  - (b) that otherwise bound Tuvalu;immediately before the commencement of this Act remains in force and is taken to be an extradition treaty for the purpose of this Act.

EXTRADITION ACT 2004

EXPLANATORY MEMORANDUM

(This memorandum is not part of the Act)

This Act modernises the extradition law of Tuvalu in line with developments in the global extradition practice. The Act reflects development in the Commonwealth London Scheme for the Rendition of Fugitive Offenders and the United Nations General Assembly adoption of the United Nations Model treaty on Extradition. It also facilitates the surrender by Tuvalu of persons wanted in another country to stand trial for, or serve a sentence imposed for, or an offence committed in that country. The making of requests to another country for the surrender of persons wanted in Tuvalu to stand trial for, or serve a sentence imposed for, an offence committed in Tuvalu, are also covered under the Act.

The Act is divided into 9 Parts —

Part 1 Preliminary, defines terms used in the Act, including what is an extradition offence and what constitutes an objection to extradition.

Part 2 Extradition sets out the core machinery provisions that apply in all extradition cases, except for extradition to other Pacific Island countries. It deals with the issue of arrest warrant, remand, and the conduct of extradition proceedings generally. Although the issue of warrants and the hearing of extradition proceedings is a matter for a magistrate, the initial decision whether to extradite the person, are both decisions of political nature and are therefore left to the Prime Minister.

Part 3 deals with the handling of extradition requests from other Commonwealth countries. These are listed in Schedule 1 to the Act. The general procedures in Part 2 apply, with an additional requirement about the standard of evidence. This requires the requesting Commonwealth country to produce a detailed authenticated record of the evidence used in the person's trial in the Commonwealth country.

Part 4 sets out detailed procedure for the extradition of persons to other Pacific Island countries. The procedure is less complex than the general procedure, and involves the production by the requesting country of the original warrant issued in that country for the arrest of the person. This warrant is endorsed by the magistrate and then becomes the basis for the person's arrest in Tuvalu. The magistrate makes the decision whether the person should be surrendered. Again there was provision for an appeal to the High Court.

Part 5 deals with extradition to countries with which Tuvalu has an extradition treaty. Basically, it applies the general provision in Part 2, subject to any modifications because of the detail of the treaty.

Part 6 deals with extradition to countries that are not Commonwealth countries, not Pacific Island countries, and not countries where there is an extradition treaty. These are countries where Tuvalu has no specific international obligation to extradite. In these cases, the Prime Minister decides whether the extradition proceedings should go ahead. If the Prime Minister decides to proceed, the general provisions under Part 2 apply, subject to any modifications by Regulations.

Part 7 confers power on members of the Tuvalu Police Force to search persons and their property where the police officer has reasonable grounds for suspecting that material evidence of an extradition offence is on or near the person, and seize property. It also provides for search and seizure warrants. It also provides for the escorted transit through Tuvalu of persons extradited from another country to a third country.

Part 8 deals with extradition requests by Tuvalu for the extradition of a person wanted in Tuvalu for an extradition offence. In particular, it provides that the person can basically only be tried for an extradition offence, and that a person who is serving a sentence in the country must be returned to finish the sentence.

Part 9 deals with circumstances in which a person can be prosecuted in Tuvalu for the extradition offence rather than be extradited. It also deals with certain evidentiary matters. This Part makes it clear that the Act intended to replace all inherited laws relating to extradition. It also provides for the making of Regulations to amend the classes of countries in the Schedules, to set out the text of any extradition treaties entered into by Tuvalu, and to make any modifications required by the terms of a particular treaty.

The Act has 4 Schedules —

Schedule 1 contains a list of Commonwealth countries. The list can be amended by Regulation.

Schedule 2 contains the list of Pacific Island countries and can be changed by Regulation.

Schedule 3 lists the countries with which Tuvalu has an inherited extradition treaty. This list is based on the assumption that Tuvalu was classed as a foreign possession in the terms of the relevant treaties, and as a British possession in terms of the Imperial Acts known as the Extradition Acts 1870 to 1935. On the basis that the Imperial Acts were in force in Tuvalu, it can be assumed that the treaties would also have applied. The list can also be changed by Regulation.

Schedule 4 sets out the forms of arrest warrants and surrender warrants that must be used in the procedures under the Act.
